ROYAL AUSTRALIAN ARTILLERY ASSOCIATION WA (INC)

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Fellow Gunners,

ANZAC DAY saw a reduced gunner presence in the march but the crowd was one of the biggest seen in many years. To all those members who attended I extend my thanks for your support and to those who could not make it we have included many photos in this edition. Members who gathered at RSL House and at 7 FD BTY afterward enjoyed meeting new gunners and catching up with old friends.

An invitation appears elsewhere in this edition for the 7th FD BTY Birthday Dinner. This will be a good dinner to attend because there are significant changes to Artillery and the Army Reserve on the horizon, changes that may go much further than a replacement of guns with mortars. A review of accommodation and structures within 13 Brigade is underway as part of a much broader plan to restructure 2 Division which is tied in with the Strategic Reform Plan.

The next main event to look forward to in 2010 is Gunners' Day. It has been necessary to alter the timings for this year's event with a start time to be confirmed but likely to be 11 am. Precise details will be provided in the next edition but the format of the day will follow the traditional practice of the march, laying of the wreaths, church service and then a light afternoon tea at the church hall. Those wishing to enjoy a stronger drink will then no doubt avail themselves of one at the local hotels.

LTCOL Scott Sullivan has volunteered to join our management committee. We welcome Scott and remind any other members that we are on the lookout for additional support from those who have a little spare time and would like to immerse themselves into achieving something for the gunner fraternity.

This edition of ARTYWA is one of the largest in recent times and includes some very diverse articles. We hope to provide information and news that is of interest to all our members. If you have any comments or want specific items to be included then we would welcome your feedback. This can be sent to the Editor or Secretary via our email address at info@artillerywa.org.au

The Centenary of Artillery Barracks FREMANTLE is to be celebrated later this year and we are negotiating to purchase commemorative coins being produced for the occasion. These will be offered to members wishing to buy them. More details in the next edition.

I look forward to seeing many of you at the BTY Birthday Dinner.

RSVP for attendance is through Hon Secretary RAA by Friday 25 June;
John Blylevens 043 869 5121 john.bly@auspost.com.au

John will send you out a formal invitation with attendance and payment details if you contact him.

The President and committee of RAA Association WA look forward to catching up with members at the Dinner.

SEND SITREP

Warrant Officer Paul Holstein (AKA - The Good Looking Rooster)

SMIG 7 Fd Bty Aug 1999 – Nov 2001

Firstly, I would like to thank the RAA Association of WA for given me the opportunity to provide an article for your SITREP segment.

I was lucky enough to receive a posting to 7 Fd Bty in Aug 1999 - 2001 as the SMIG and I must say that it was one of the best times both professional and socially in my career so far. I would especially like to acknowledge Peter Mahoney it was a pleasure to work with you. I recall though that he weren't too happy when I provide him and all the other officers a detailed military guide on how to be a well dress officer and leader. I also recall a certain 'O' Group with the Battery key appointments before a Field Training Exercise (FTX) at good old Lancelin Range. It was my opportunity to pass on SMIGs points. During my address several people would laugh at various stages, after a while I was getting pretty mad and decided that I had had enough and targeted SGT Vic Morrow as to what was so @$%^&* funny Vic? Which he replied that I had swore more then 28 times in 4 minutes....Maybe that's why the BC put on my annual report that year, that WO Holstein was not an eloquent speaker! But, it was a good time and it was fun working with Ian Hodgkins, Vic Morrow, Big Dave Graham, Terry Almond (not bad for a Tanky), Eddy Connor and especially Col Turner who we miss so much!...I also enjoyed catching up and having a beer with the boys from the 7 Fd Association and having a chat with Don Rae, to find out what old Artillery equipment or memorabilia he had found, borrowed or received. I'm sure he has his own museum at home!

However, life goes on after 7 Fd Bty and for me it was off to the College of Knowledge, the Royal Military College – Duntroon where I fulfilled the role the Company Sergeant Major for 2nd Class and in 2004 moved into the OPS Cell as the Operations Warrant Officer. It was a very rewarding job at RMC and both Kelly and I enjoyed Canberra as well, so much that I contemplated getting out and settling in Canberra. At the time I also started a management degree through the University of New England, which I completed in 2006. I decided to stay in Canberra and was lucky enough to get another posting in Canberra to the Australian Defence Force Academy as a Squadron Sergeant Major. Once again a very enjoyable job but, by the end of 2006, I had had enough of trying to help steer young officers in the right direction.....a challenge for anyone!

About this time, I decided it was time to go back to a Regiment however, had to wait another 12 months as I was out of sync with the posting cycle in order to pick up a BSM position. I was then posted to Army Headquarters within the Directorate Personnel and Capability – Army, Employment Management Section as the WO Employment Management, responsible for Employment Category Standing Orders and Combat Arms trade training. Once again a job that initially, I thought I was going to be a brew boy for every Colonel in AHQ, turned out to be a great experience and a place where I learnt what went on in the bigger picture of Army.

In January 2008, I was posted to the 20th Surveillance and Target Acquisition Regiment in sunny Brisbane as a Battery Sergeant Major. While at 20 STA, I deployed to Timor within the Headquarters JTF631 as the Company Sergeant Major for six months and returned in mid September 09. Two weeks after I returned from Timor Kelly and I went to Samoa for a friends wedding and holiday and were caught up in the Tsunami the day after we arrived and unfortunately were effected by the Tsunami and returned to Aust two days later. Wasn't the best preparation I wanted prior to the RSM course.

I was promoted to WO1 in Dec 09 and took up my current appointment as Regimental Sergeant Major 2/10 Field Regiment.

That's as far as it goes since leaving 7 Fd Bty. Once again, thanks for memories and I wish you all well in your future endeavours!

THE MEMORIAL TO NATIONAL SERVICEMEN

Background: In April 2002, the National Servicemen's Association of Australia Inc (NSAA) made a request for formal recognition of national service to occur at the Australian War Memorial (AWM). In August 2002, Council agreed that a fountain (or bench) would be appropriate. Subsequent correspondence with the NSAA resulted in reservation of a fountain site directly east of the front entrance of the main building in the proposed Memorial Courtyard.

Development of the Memorial Courtyard, and the National Service Memorial it contains, is contingent on the larger development of the Eastern Precinct. A National Service Memorial Advisory Group comprising ADNC, Head Art, Head Buildings and Services and representatives of the NSAA has been formed.

The Advisory Group has developed a design commission brief with key elements of the brief being:

- The National Service Memorial commemorates those who served as national servicemen under the two schemes created under the National Service Act 1951 (1951-59) and the National Service Act 1964 (1965-72).
- The design concept is a simple and dignified fountain which does not compete, but be sympathetic to and complement the AWM existing architecture.
- The Memorial Courtyard is a formal architecture and landscape design which includes geometric paved and grass areas and facility for placement of commemorative plaques on the perimeter. The National Service memorial is the centrepiece of the Memorial Courtyard and will be constructed with noble materials in sympathy with the site.
- The design must be environmentally sensitive in terms of water and energy use and the design should minimise, as far as possible, ongoing maintenance requirements and any potential for vandalism or defacement.
- A notional budget for design and construction of $350,000 (inclusive of a 6% per annum increase during the period 2007-2010).

Architects, Johnson Pilton Walker (JPW) were commissioned to prepare a design for the memorial, and subsequently came up with a sleek, modern design that eloquently depicts each of the armed services.

Design Concept: The concept responds to the brief and forms the centre piece of the new eastern courtyard. The planning of a central fountain contained within the larger eastern court and defined by paving, low English box hedging and seating allows for quiet contemplation by small to medium sized groups.

The design also allows for larger gatherings with good sightlines from the whole eastern area. The three services are represented by the service badges and by the symbolic representation of earth, water and sky (sandstone, the fountain and sky reflections off polished black granite). The three services are also represented by the triangular bronze inner element, which symbolise their integral role of the armed services to National Service.

The materials chosen have direct relationship to the Australian War Memorial: the bronze of the fountain as used in the roll of honour, the sandstone paving and outer plinth as used in the memorial building, and the black granite fountain base as used in other memorials in the western precinct. The foundation is designed with the need to conserve precious water resources. Water will be used sparingly and from recycled sources. The memorial has been designed to look equally attractive should severe periods of drought make it necessary to temporarily restrict or eliminate the use of water in the fountain.

In September 2007, copies of the design proposal were then sent to each of the 139 Sub-Branches and fraternal associations around the country with a request for members' approval to be provided by end of December 2007. An overwhelming approval from members has resulted in 'go ahead' instructions to be issued to the Australian War Memorial and the architects.

Memorial Dedication Events The dates for the Dedication events have now been confirmed for September 7 and 8, 2010 with the dedication of the National Servicemen's Memorial scheduled for Wednesday, September 8, 2010.

Immediate family members (i.e. mother, father, brother, sister, wife, son or daughter) of the 212 deceased National Servicemen interested in attending the dedication should log on the website and complete the form provided. For general National Servicemen interested in participating in dedication events, please log on the website and complete the form provided.

Anyone wishing to contact us regarding the Memorial Dedication activities may do so by emailing us at nashosecretary@optusnet.com.au. Please continue to refer to this website for future updates on the details relating to Dedication events.

Presidents Address

The following were elected to the Committee for 2010/2011;

President	Bruce Campbell
Vice President	David Carter
Secretary	John Walsh
Treasurer	Neil Lodge
Member	Stan Davies
Member	Ray Bird

and you will note John Walsh rejoined the Committee after one year's absence whilst the immediate past president Ray Bird has also. The continuing strength of the Committee is welcome.

We are able to report the Buckland Hill Tunnels, which began operating every Sunday on 05 July last, is gaining more public support and it continues to offer a viable venue for all.

Again this is only possible by the support of the volunteer guides and cashiers. If you know of a suitable person who could be interested in joining this group please contact the writer.

KIWI LONG TAN VETERAN AWARDED

A Vietnam War veteran has been honoured with a rare award at a surprise lunch in Auckland. Seventy-eight-year-old Morrie Stanley was one of three Kiwi's involved in the battle of Long Tan during the Vietnam War in 1966. Stanley thought he was off to a casual lunch with a few old friends on Saturday, but instead he was stunned by a surprise ceremony to honour him.

"I expected a small lunch with a group of the artillery association," says Stanley. He was presented with the rare Australian Unit Citation for Gallantry, the first Kiwi to get the award. It has only ever been given to two other Australian units - the SAS in Iraq and the commandos in Afghanistan.

The moment was too much Stanley who is suffering from terminal cancer. "You saw me weep this morning. I've been doing that a lot lately," he says. The award recognises Stanley's actions as Captain of a three-man artillery unit that was supporting 105 Australian troops fighting more than 2,000 Viet Cong at Long Tan.

Stanley's comrade, Harry Smith, says he was lying in the mud next to him while Stanley gave directions to 24 artillery guns to fire on the enemy position. "I have said to others, I wouldn't be talking to you now if it hadn't been for Morrie Stanley and his guns," says Smith.

BENEATH LEIGHTON BATTERY

The Society's showpiece continues to attract a steady flow of visitors every Sunday. The guides, cashiers and monthly maintenance members are thanked for their continual voluntary input and good humour. A sub-group within our Management Committee is currently planning the refurbishment of the Command Post, this being the initial point of contact with the public. Plans include the rearrangement of room functions, new displays and new carpeting.

Our links with the wider community are further reflected in tour groups who have recently been shown through the complex; these include the Holden Car Club, Mazonod College, a group of State and Federal politicians-in particular the Shadow Minister for Defence, and yet another exercise on site by the State Emergency Service. Mosman Council have also been active in clearing the dead tea-tree plots that are not only an eye sore but also are potential fire hazards in summer. The resulting clear view areas are then landscaped by us and the results are quite pleasing (further clearing is expected).

The Society has a second hand cement mixer for sale located at Leighton Battery. If you are interested in it (or know of someone who maybe) please come and have a look at it-last Saturday each month (morning) at the Battery site. Any member who has not been to the tunnels for a while and who can use a broom, a rake or a paint brush, even a vacuum cleaner, can join the maintenance group on the last Saturday each month - we even have a sausage sizzle (!) - the tasks will surely give you more of a sense of ownership of our Society's showpiece.

VIP VISIT to LEIGHTON BATTERY

A visit to the Leighton Battery Heritage Site was undertaken by the Shadow Minister for Defence, Senator The Hon. David Johnston on Tuesday 8 June 2010. He was accompanied by Don Randall MP, Member for Canning and the endorsed Liberal candidate for Fremantle, Matt Taylor together with staff from the Senator's office. In addition, the group included Denise Cahill, the Editor of the Community News Group – Western Suburbs.

The group was met by RAAHS President, Bruce Campbell and members of the Society including Ronnie Roach, Don Rae, John Walsh, Roger Martin, Ray Bird and Vicki Ide (in her capacity as photographer). The visitors were on site for over two hours which included a comprehensive tour of the facilities concluding with some typical "Gunner hospitality".

The visit was considered a great success as it provided the guests with an understanding and appreciation of the role of the facility during the wartime era and its subsequent development and restoration as a historical and heritage Artillery site.

Generally, there was a previous lack of awareness regarding the LBHS, however all indicated that the quality of the tour and the range of displays were of a very high quality. The elected representatives indicated strong support for the planned enhancement program and offered to assist wherever they could. The visit therefore was an important PR exercise as it established the potential for direct lines of communication between the RAAHS and the WA based Federal Parliament representatives.

At the time of writing this article, it is not known the extent of any media coverage in the Community News, however, as the Editor and a photographer made a subsequent visit to the site, it is anticipated a worthwhile article will appear.

Overall, the visit by this VIP group was regarded as a real plus and it was rated as an important step in creating further awareness to key people in the WA community.
